

What do you think about
when you see jelly beans
rolling around in your hand?

A bluebird's egg, a coffee bean,
or a pebble found in the sand?

When I look at all the colors-
the red, green, yellow, and blue,
I think about my Jesus
and his love for me and you.

The black are yummy like licorice, but
remind me of our sin,
and how we need God's forgiveness
to be made new, again.

Yellow for the sunlight
and walking streets of gold,
for when we call on Jesus,
in heaven, his face we'll behold.

The red ones taste like cherries
and are my favorite part.
For Jesus' blood was shed for all,
we just need to give our heart.

When I eat the green ones,
I'm reminded how I can grow
in grace and knowledge of Jesus-
His love to others show.

And finally the white ones-
they taste like coconuts,
and remind us of the hope we have
when in the Lord we trust.

Other colors swirling there,
even some with polka dots-
remind me God sent His son, Jesus,
to save every one of us.

So as you eat your jelly beans,
remember what Jesus said,
"I am the way the truth, the life",
"the living water", and "the bread".

I will love the Lord, my God,
and serve as He has lead.
Will you, too, choose to follow Him?
His love's done just what He said.

-Juliana Clink, 2014

What do you think about
when you see jelly beans
rolling around in your hand?

A bluebird's egg, a coffee bean,
or a pebble found in the sand?

When I look at all the colors-
the red, green, yellow, and blue,
I think about my Jesus
and his love for me and you.

The black are yummy like licorice, but
remind me of our sin,
and how we need God's forgiveness
to be made new, again.

Yellow for the sunlight
and walking streets of gold,
for when we call on Jesus,
in heaven, his face we'll behold.

The red ones taste like cherries
and are my favorite part.
For Jesus' blood was shed for all,
we just need to give our heart.

When I eat the green ones,
I'm reminded how I can grow
in grace and knowledge of Jesus-
His love to others show.

And finally the white ones-
they taste like coconuts,
and remind us of the hope we have
when in the Lord we trust.

Other colors swirling there,
even some with polka dots-
remind me God sent His son, Jesus,
to save every one of us.

So as you eat your jelly beans,
remember what Jesus said,
"I am the way the truth, the life",
"the living water", and "the bread".

I will love the Lord, my God,
and serve as He has lead.
Will you, too, choose to follow Him?
His love's done just what He said.

-Juliana Clink, 2014

What do you think about
when you see jelly beans
rolling around in your hand?

A bluebird's egg, a coffee bean,
or a pebble found in the sand?

When I look at all the colors-
the red, green, yellow, and blue,
I think about my Jesus
and his love for me and you.

The black are yummy like licorice, but
remind me of our sin,
and how we need God's forgiveness
to be made new, again.

Yellow for the sunlight
and walking streets of gold,
for when we call on Jesus,
in heaven, his face we'll behold.

The red ones taste like cherries
and are my favorite part.
For Jesus' blood was shed for all,
we just need to give our heart.

When I eat the green ones,
I'm reminded how I can grow
in grace and knowledge of Jesus-
His love to others show.

And finally the white ones-
they taste like coconuts,
and remind us of the hope we have
when in the Lord we trust.

Other colors swirling there,
even some with polka dots-
remind me God sent His son, Jesus,
to save every one of us.

So as you eat your jelly beans,
remember what Jesus said,
"I am the way the truth, the life",
"the living water", and "the bread".

I will love the Lord, my God,
and serve as He has lead.
Will you, too, choose to follow Him?
His love's done just what He said.

-Juliana Clink, 2014

Jelly Bean Bracelet

Ingredients:

- Jelly Beans
- String
- Needle

Instructions:

1. Tie a large knot at one end of the string.
2. Have kids decide the pattern they want with their jelly beans.
3. "Sew" the jelly beans on the string using the needle (parent supervision advised).
4. Once your bracelet has reached the desired length, tie the two ends together.
5. Enjoy this fun treat!

"But God demonstrates his own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us."
Romans 5:8

Jelly Bean Bracelet

Ingredients:

- Jelly Beans
- String
- Needle

Instructions:

1. Tie a large knot at one end of the string.
2. Have kids decide the pattern they want with their jelly beans.
3. "Sew" the jelly beans on the string using the needle (parent supervision advised).
4. Once your bracelet has reached the desired length, tie the two ends together.
5. Enjoy this fun treat!

"But God demonstrates his own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us."
Romans 5:8

Jelly Bean Bracelet

Ingredients:

- Jelly Beans
- String
- Needle

Instructions:

1. Tie a large knot at one end of the string.
2. Have kids decide the pattern they want with their jelly beans.
3. "Sew" the jelly beans on the string using the needle (parent supervision advised).
4. Once your bracelet has reached the desired length, tie the two ends together.
5. Enjoy this fun treat!

"But God demonstrates his own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us."
Romans 5:8

